IN HIS FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

RICH WIDOW IS SLAIN, DAUGHTER SHOT; KIN SOUGHT

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Frances D. Rawson, 70, widow of Warren Rawson, former pork packer, was shot to death in her home here tonight. Her daughter, Miss Nina Rawson, 49, was shot in the left arm and neck and probably will recover. A second daughter escaped injury by fleeing from the house. The police are searching for Vito Perin, a grain dealer and a non-in-law of Mrs. Rawson. The shooting was done in the dining room of the Rawson home in the exclusive suburb of Clifton. Perin, who is 50 years old, is alleged to have fled from the rear door of the house and escaped. It is said that frequently in the last two years he had made demands on his relatives for money. Miss Nina Rawson said she, her mother, and her sister Josephine were chatting when Perin entered and demanded money. "You are trying to make my wife a slave to a bunch of bum college students. Now I need financial help and you don't help me. I will cause a scandal," Miss Rawson said he told them. "We asked him what would cause a scandal and he replied by drawing a revolver and starting to shoot. He fired the first shot at me. Then he shot mother, who was sitting in her chair."

SMALL AT PEACE WITH THOMPSON

Ex-Mayor Will Speak for the Governor.

BY PARKE BROWN. (Picture on back page.) All's well between Gov. Len Small and former Mayor Thompson once more. The Lincoln park board yesterday deposed William H. Wesley as superintendent of the park system. It elected Harry Klatsko as general manager, which means "boss" and supervisor of patronage, stripping Wesley of his political power, though Wesley will retain a post in the park system. In the split between Thompson and Fred Lundin, Wesley followed the latter. And Klatsko is president of Thompson's own Forty-state ward organization. Thompson in Control. So, in plain words, the patronage of the Lincoln park system, at least so far as surface indications go, has been wrested from Lundin and transferred to Thompson. At least Thompson is satisfied with Small's part in the move. The former mayor now is ready to take the stump for the governor during the present campaign. Judging from what he says, everything is forgiven. But just how far his several ultimatums Small have been met cannot be told at this writing.

DON'T FORGET TO SET CLOCK BACK AN HOUR TONIGHT

About five months ago, that is, last spring, some 3,700,000 hours of sleep were lost by the inhabitants of Chicago, when the city fathers ordered the hands of all clocks turned forward one hour. Say a person went to bed that Sunday morning at 1 o'clock, and just then it became 2 instead of 1. Tonight is the night of retribution. Time lost is said to be gone forever, but tonight, if you don't forget, you can set the hands of the old alarm clock back one hour and beat the odds. You can stay out until 2 o'clock and get home at 1. Two o'clock Sunday morning is the official time designated for "turning back." Sunday morning there won't be any more confusion about trains. There will be just one time. All suburban trains will revert to their former schedules at 12:30 Sunday morning.

JAPS' BOLT ON WORLD PEACE PACT FEARED

Refused League O. K. for 'Alien War.'

BY VINCENT SHEEHAN. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.) GENEVA, Sept. 26.—Japan threatened to bolt from the league of nations' peace system today unless an amendment is adopted permitting it to wage war on the immigration question. Reduced to plain English, this is the meaning of the dramatic scene this afternoon when Japan, supported by Italy, moved to amend article five of the proposed treaty of arbitration, security, and disarmament which is to be presented to the league assembly tomorrow for approval by fifty-four nations. Australia, in the person of Sir Littleton Groom, supplied strenuous opposition with the full support of all the British dominions and some other countries. In spite of the efforts of Louis Loucheur of France to arrange some compromise, both Japan and Great Britain remained obdurate. Then after three hours of discussion Baron Abanci arose and announced in a voice charged with emotion that Japan finds itself "under the sorrowful necessity of making most express reserve to the entire peace system adopted by the league." He then withdrew the amendment and left the room.

Tunnel Puzzle Solved; 'Prof.' a Human Mole

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—[Special.]—The Great Washington tunnel mystery is solved. Sometimes during the day the city was thrown into a hum of excitement by the discovery of a network of underground tunnels or a labyrinth of catacombs in the exclusive northwest section of the city. They seemed to center in the rear of Fulham court apartments, 2115 F street. Speculation at once evoked many stories. Some credited German spies with building the work, others connected it with civil war days, while still others describe it as the rendezvous of unscrupulous rum plotter. But Washington this morning will get the explanation. Truck Brings Discovery. The tunnels were discovered yesterday when a truck wheel broke a hole in the earth. Some one entering this hole found it dropped into a passageway about four feet wide and seven feet high. The passageway was lined with brick. This tunnel leads in one direction for several yards, only to end in a concrete barricade, which apparently has replaced an old wooden door that once opened on a terrace. Another tunnel starts near the rear basement door of a private dwelling. It can be traversed about ten yards when loose earth and bricks prevent further passage. A passageway leading from it also is filled with debris. Engineers inspecting the tunnels said the masonry was of the finest construction and must have cost thousands of dollars. Did It for Exercise. But late tonight the mystery was solved. Harrison G. Dyer, an entomologist in the Smithsonian institution, admitted that he constructed the labyrinth of tunnels. Mr. Dyer, who is devoted to the study of butterflies and moths in a government office during the day, secretly dug these underground passageways in the evenings. He explained his motive. "I did it for exercise," he said. "Digging tunnels after work is my hobby. There's really nothing mysterious about it."

FOCH EXPLAINS VIEWS ON LEAGUE AND SECURITY

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—The opinions of Marshal Foch on France's security and the league of nations, as set forth in his replies to questions put to him by the Revue Hebdomadaire, are expected by the French press to create a deep impression on his countrymen. Asked under what conditions France could place her confidence in the league, the marshal replied that he considered two things lacking in the league: first, that the European nations, which were most interested in the maintenance of peace and in European affairs, should have a preponderant voice at Geneva, and second, that the league should possess material means to make its decisions respected, such as international force. The second question was whether he believed the league eventually could lighten the country's military burden by a system of international guarantee. He replied in the affirmative, but on condition that the foregoing conditions were fulfilled previously. A reduction of French armaments, he asserted, depends on the disarmament of Germany.

He moved restlessly about in the limited space of the small bed room. "Couldn't you wait on the balcony?" he asked. "My dear woman," he said impatiently, "haven't I told you there's a policeman lurking below?" "Don't call me your dear woman," she fumed. "Don't mix this Blue Ribbon story in."

BATTLES WITH HIS PARTNER IN LINCOLN PARK

Seize Fiancee of One in the Congress.

(Picture on back page.) A quarrel yesterday between two liquor brokers with Gold Coast clients ended in the perhaps fatal shooting of one and threw the fashionable section in the vicinity of Lincoln Park West and Fullerton parkway into a near panic. Traffic through Lincoln park was blocked for nearly half an hour. Harry J. Callan, who resides at the Congress hotel and who describes himself as purveyor of the best grade of pre-Volstead liquors to Chicago's wealthiest families, was the victim of the shot. From his cot at Augustana hospital last night, with a bullet wound through his left lung and another in the left arm, he frankly related a story of his five years of prosperous and untroubled liquor selling in Chicago and furnished information which put detectives on the trail of his alleged assailant, Leon Tarr, 326 Fullerton parkway, son of a wealthy wholesale milliner of New York. Profits $20,000 Monthly. Tarr, who is 34 years old, has for two years been Callan's partner in bootlegging. It is said, and the shooting was the climax of a bitter quarrel between the two over division of profits, said to average $10,000 a month each. Three others, said to have had some of the shooting in an automobile along with Tarr, are also sought. One of the three, according to Callan, is Theodore (Toad) Newberry, bootlegger-gumman and formerly a superintendent of the Checker Cab company, and another is Arrest Capella, known to the underworld as "The New York Worm," who is believed to have held a minor partnership in the business of Callan and Tarr. The identity of the third companion of Tarr, who drove the fugitive car, was unknown to him, Callan said. Two Girls Questioned. While an extended combing of underworld habits of the west side in search of Tarr and his companions was on last night, two young women were being questioned at Hudson avenue police station. One of the girls, Mrs. Agnes Tarr, wife of Tarr, a "sightingly pretty blonde," was found in the tumultuously appointed Fullerton parkway apartment. She was garbed for the street, and was surrounded by several steamer trunks and other articles of luggage. She admitted she and Tarr were on the point of changing their address, but stubbornly refused to say more. The other girl was taken into custody at Callan's home at the Congress hotel. She gave the name of May Ross and said she was Callan's fiancée. She said Callan had told her to await him there while he kept an appointment with Tarr at Lincoln park. Told of $7,000 Sale. Callan, dubbed by the police "the only bootlegger who ever squawked," in his story charged that Tarr "and a gang" recently set out to undermine his business by stealing his customers among the Chicago wealthy. One instance of this, he said, involving a $7,000 liquor sale to a rich north side, precipitated the quarrel which led to the shooting. "Four weeks ago," related Callan, "I tipped off Tarr to this customer. According to our custom, I was to receive a certain percentage of the profits. "Time after time I asked Tarr if he had closed the deal. He always evaded, saying the customer wouldn't come to terms. Finally I got suspicious and investigated. I found Tarr had been lying to me. He had delivered the liquor and collected. We had several hot telephone talks, and finally yesterday agreed to meet and settle the argument once and for all. "Callan said he was sitting on a park bench when Tarr drove up with his friends. Prepared For Fight. "We had come down and then I invited him into the alley to fight it out with our fists," said Callan. "Tarr got out of the car and so did two of his friends. The fourth man, a stranger to me, stayed at the wheel, and as I believe they had deliberately plotted to assassinate me and make a run for it. "There's three against one here, but I'll fight you. I told Tarr as we moved towards the alley, 'Don't bother about that. Tarr said, drawing his gun and leveling it at me. "With that I moved for my own gun. But I wasn't quick enough. He pulled the trigger before I could draw.

Want Ad Index Page 18

As his assailants clambered back into their car and sped north in the drive, Callan craved weakly across the street and hailed Policeman Otto Kolben of the Lincoln Park force, who had heard the shot.

Callan arrested the detectives in his frank relation of how he had carried on, unimpeded, his apparently whole-time home traffic for five years under their very noses. He put great emphasis upon his claim that he numbers among his clientele only men of wealth and the best class of taste.

Aristocrat of Bootleggers.

He put scorn into his reply when asked if he knew certain well-known society rascals as the elite of local bootleggers.

"Those guys! Say, what do you think I am? A common hooch peddler? Why, they don't trot in the same class with me. All I know of them is what I've read in the papers."

He recently exhibited his "business card," showing that "day service" could be had by telephoning room 2060 at the Congress and "night service" at room 2315. The former is his sleeping apartment, he explained, and the latter his "office."

A search of the man's effects is said to have yielded a list of names resembling a page from the Chicago Blue Book.

"I just got through distributing a car load of elegant stuff," declared Callan. "There's plenty of it around if you know how to get it—and I deal only in the best."

But Callan refused to become specific when asked the source of his supplies.

"O. some of it comes from New York, and some from places," he evaded.

Records Found in Flat.

Callan declared that Tarr's profits in the business for the past month had been about $1,500, but that Cappola, their minor partner, had realized only about $400. He said he had been getting about $20 a case for his champagne, and $15 a case for Scotch whisky.

A search of Tarr's flat revealed a set of books kept with such items as "bottles," "sales," "storage," "hauling" and the like, and the names of Callan and Cappola recurred frequently.

A notebook contained the following telephone numbers: Oakland 5555, Canal 3507, Haymarket 1059, State 2445, Grandview 3354, and State 2500, Local 59.

A letter found in Tarr's room was written on the stationery of "Leon A. Tarr, Importer, 58 West 35th street, New York," dated Sept. 11, and signed "Joe." It told of shipping a case of "Perfection" to "Fred Elster at 545."

Henry A. Griss, 2604 Ward street, told police Tarr had visited him with several companions shortly before the shooting and sought to enter a building owned by Griss on Kinzie street.

Girl Defies Felle.

Miss Rose, almost knowing the nature of Callan's business and grew defiant when her questioners persisted, insisting she was a "dressmaker" at the Congress. She vigorously related the taking of her photograph, snatching the camera and slamming it upon the floor.

Police kept watch for Tarr last night at the Pullman Parkway apartment and at Newberry's garage on the west side.

EX-LECTURER OF ILLINOIS MASONS ENDS OWN LIFE

Choosing a spot on Lovers' lane, north of Elgin, Albert J. Winteringham of Dundee, past grand lecturer of state Masonic lodge, committed suicide yesterday by sending a bullet into his brain. Despondency over illness of his mother is believed the reason. Mr. Winteringham was known throughout the middle west as a sportsman. On several occasions he won the state hunt and fly casting championships.

OWEN OFFERS HELP IN WINE FRAUD INQUIRY

Denies Any Irregularity in His Office.

Assistant United States District Attorney William F. Owen yesterday began a check of the records turned over to the federal grand jury by Prohibition Director Percy Owen in an effort to determine to what extent collusion existed in the alleged illicit issuance of sacramental wine permits in Chicago.

The records were requested by the foreman of the jury yesterday morning and were immediately furnished by Mr. Owen, who said they were complete in every way and in such form to cause him to welcome personal perusal as far as he is concerned.

Owen Disclaims Fault.

Following publication of reports that the records were to play an important part in the investigation, which has been under way for several weeks, Mr. Owen issued a statement admitting that "the sacramental wine situation had long been a problem of serious proportion for the prohibition department" when he assumed the dictatorship in Illinois.

"Many conferences have been held," he said, "with all authorities who are concerned in the proper enforcement of the prohibition law as to how best to handle the sacramental wine situation, and to the director's best knowledge and belief every precaution possible has been taken by this department."

All evidence in connection with the handling of sacramental wine has been properly submitted to the proper officers for investigation and the records of this department are available for the strictest investigation.

Protesters Cooperation.

"This department will cooperate with all authorities to the end that individuals who may be responsible for violations in handling sacramental wine may be properly punished."

As is usual in such investigations, a "little black book" has appeared in the wine quit to add interest and suspense. It was found in possession of a Jewish wine dealer and is said to contain the names of various prohibition agents, their phone numbers and addresses, and other interesting memoranda.

Indictment of 75 Sought.

It was reported by federal building groups that Capt. Wagner probably will seek indictment of seventy-five wine dealers, a few rabbis and perhaps a few federal employees.

Agents Bernard Rump and Albert Bennett have been in charge of wine inspections since last March and were responsible for approval on almost 300 supposed Jewish congregations, now said to be either wholly fictitious or without sufficient status to gain legal distribution of sacramental wine.

Spain Crushes Moor Rebels; Rescues Besieged Troops

BY HENRY WALSH

(Copyright, 1934, by The Chicago Tribune)

TEHUACAN, Mexico, Sept. 25.—(By Courier to Tangle.)—Spain has crushed the Moroccan uprising. To-day's storming of the powerful positions at Bankarrich, astride the main highway from Tetuan to Chechouen, opened the road for relief to the garrison of 5,000 Spaniards at Chechouen, besieged for a fortnight.

The Gorguss blockhouse, located on a 1,000 foot high mountain two miles from Tetuan and dominating the entire countryside, was also relieved. This deprived the Rifians of a vantage point and restored the morale of the Spanish forces.

Through the courtesy of Dictator Primo de Rivera, I witnessed both attacks from an airplane during the Bankarrich assault and on horseback on an adjoining mountain top I saw the Gorguss garrison saved.

Moorish Are Beaten—Moorish. In an exclusive interview Dictator de Rivera told The Tribune:

"The resistance of the enemy is broken. We will proceed now with the serious minor operations of reopening the road to Chechouen, which is the main seat of the opposition."

"I was the sole newspaper correspondent witnessing the operations, requiring a couple of days' horseback climbing of mountains in a boiling sun. The entire jerrado consists of rocky crags, stunted mesquites, and yellow dust."

Victory Out of Disaster.

Through the most forceful measures the Spanish dictator saved the situation, which a week ago seemed disastrous, with the Rifians threatening Tetuan and actually sniping into the city's streets from around Gorguss. With the Tetuan-Chechouen railway cut, the Moors threatened to drive the Spaniards into the sea.

Dictator de Rivera degraded and sent home scores of high officers for ineffectiveness and carelessness, replacing them with younger, more active men, and worked out a concordant scheme for utilizing huge bodies of troops against the weaker enemy and then, through personal magnetism and driving power, sent troops forward in the hot sun and cold nights, lacking water, provisions, and ammunition sometimes to dislodge the enemy.

"After Rifin's forces, which numbered 10,000 a week ago, are now breaking up and it is believed scarcely more than 5,000 remain in the field. The rebels, composed of various isolated bands, are working independently and without organization. The fighting men in general are accompanied by wives, children, and cattle, camped in neighboring ravines. After their defeat the natives hide their rifles and resume their ordinary occupation of watching cattle, goats, and sheep grazing and a little agriculture as though nothing happened."

"It is not the enemy I have to contend with—it is the terrain," Gen. de Rivera continued. "Nothing but mountains in the entire region, enabling the rebels to feed off the land they travel over, to withdraw and take up new positions, whereas the Spanish columns must have convoys of food, water, ammunition, and Red Cross to accompany them."

Denies Peace Negotiations.

He denied reports of poor parleys with Abdel Krim for the cessation of hostilities and an autonomous state of Rifians.

"No negotiations are under way and there will not be until the present campaign is finished and the resistance completely wiped out," he said. "Perhaps after communications are re-established we will discuss the matter with the Rifians, but one thing is certain—Spain intends to maintain the protectorate of Morocco."

Gen. de Rivera intends to remain in Morocco until the operations are completed, although he may jump to Madrid a few days next week to settle urgent affairs of state.

Spanish Forces Advance.

Following the Bankarrich victory the Spanish forces are advancing along the high road toward Chechouen. Progress is slow as the countryside must be carefully scoured to prevent ambush, which is the Moors' specialty. Chechouen is expected to be reached in a few days.

As the general commanding the garrison of 5,000 Spanish forces there, he is able to hold out and is well supplied with ammunition and food, although the Rifians are nightly making attacks.

REDS USE BABES AND WOMEN AS BATTLE SHIELD

Georgian Rebels Flee to Avoid Killing Kin.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK

(Copyright, 1934, by The Chicago Tribune)

TREBIZOND (Via Constantinople), Sept. 25.—The mountain sides of smiling Georgia are literally weeping today with the life blood of wives, daughters, and babies of the Georgian revolutionists.

In a battle, which has been raging more than a week in the towering Caucasus ranges in the province of Syvanthi, 125 miles northeast of Batumi, the Red armies are trying to crush Col. Tchokachvili's insurgent force of 30,000 by using thousands of women and children as shields at the head and sides of their attacking columns.

Secret Telegrams Tell Story.

The heart-rending retreat of Col. Tchokachvili's forces into the almost inaccessible dales around Mount Elbrus to escape firing upon their own flesh and blood and the pursuit of the Red army, which could plainly be seen dragging and pushing and bayonetting the women along, is described in minute details in telegrams received through an underground service of the Georgian independence committee, and from Batumi and Tiflis newspapers, which are smuggled out of Georgia by rebels at the risk of instant execution.

The last telegram was dated two days ago and the last newspaper four days ago.

The final fate of between 2,000 and 3,000 surviving women martyrs is unknown.

Ordered to Crush Rebels.

When the Red army reinforcements from the Rumanian and Polish frontiers broke the Georgian struggle for independence two weeks ago, many revolutionary bands who had been fighting along the Batumi-Tiflis railway and pipe line fell back northward into the mountainous provinces of Syvanthi, seventy-eight miles north of Kutais, and joined Col. Tchokachvili, who had been carrying on guerrilla warfare against the Reds since the latter conquered Georgia.

The Red general staff telegraphed from Moscow that Col. Tchokachvili must be crushed at any cost, because his powerful insurgent force could keep Georgia in an uproar, and particularly could cut the Batumi-Tiflis-Baku railway and vital pipe line. Col. Tchokachvili could force the Soviets to keep almost 100,000 troops in the Caucasus, which would greatly weaken the Red army and be the rallying point constantly for a new revolution.

On the lower slope of Syvanthi province a big Red army was sent out from Batumi. It captured and burned all the villages, massacred many inhabitants, and deported thousands of others to Siberia, but the colonel's insurgents held them back many days, rolling huge stones upon the advancing Red columns and fighting from behind trees. The Reds used batteries of field and mountain guns, but the insurgents were well protected by caves and rocks. The Reds even tried airplanes and tanks, but were unsuccessful.

Finally Moscow telegraphed a direct order to use all the women, girls, and children captured in the villages as shields for the Red columns, not only during the days' marching, but during the camps at night. The women, even some with babies in their arms, were concentrated in one big camp near the town of Oul, formed into companies, and assigned to different columns.

See Shield of Women; Retreat.

As the Red columns started up the mountain sides last Saturday morning Col. Tchokachvili's men, holding a line of rocks and trees 700 yards ahead, were assigned to see their own wives, daughters, mothers, and sisters being pushed ahead and beside the Reds as shields. Most of the women were being driven ahead with kicks and bayonet points, others were weeping, and some screaming.

Some of the revolutionists went mad and ran sobbing toward their women, but the main body strictly obeyed orders to hold their fire and fall back. Some Red columns halted to fire over and through the ranks of women at revolutionists in sight.

SEEK POISON IN WOMAN WHOM "FRIGHT KILLED"

Though Mrs. Nancy Sargis, 145 Hill street, is believed to have died of fright when her husband, John, suddenly attacked her aged father with an ax, the police yesterday asked for an autopsy to see whether there were any traces of poisoning. The inquest opened yesterday, then was postponed to await the findings of the coroner's chemist.

John Sargis, 617 North La Salle street, is being held by the police, because Sargis, who is under arrest, said his wife had intended to divorce him to marry Lowy.

This is supposed to have some connection with Sargis' attack on his father-in-law.

BIGGER CLASSES WANTED TO DODGE SCHOOL PAY CUT

Teachers Fear "Merit"
System in Schedules.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Teachers' salaries, working hours, and classroom load are now being widely discussed as a controversial subject in Chicago's time honored school system. Teachers are voicing a fear that a cut may be made in the salary schedule which was raised in 1923 to help adjust them to the deflated dollar. So far the school board has given no indication of this. What the teachers seem to be apprehensive of is not a horizontal reduction in salary, but an indirect cut for the bulk of the force through a possibly efficiency test and a change in system to make part of the pay depend upon merit and classroom accomplishment.

The regular elementary and high school teachers have not asked for increases, but thirteen other groups, some of them specialists, have asked the board to boost their pay. The request will be taken up during budget making.

Classes May be Increased. Finances are such that board room people are sure that the salary question may involve itself into a matter of increasing the number of pupils under each teacher to avoid a pay cut. School attendance increases about 18,000 a year. The idea of stretching funds over increased demands by putting four or five more pupils in a class is not new. It has come up intermittently for twenty years or more.

In his annual report Sept. 10, McGowan compares salaries in Chicago's schools with other cities. "Teachers in January," he says, "were paid in dollars which according to the United States department of commerce were worth 85 cents each, as compared with 1914 values. Compared with three cities nearest in size to Chicago, the medium salaries are:

City	Elementary	High
Chicago	$2,037	$2,605
New York	2,401	2,800
Philadelphia	2,015	2,000
Detroit	1,918	1,840

The present salary grading system is simple. There are two groups, upper and lower, of principals, of teachers in high schools, of elementary teachers. The teacher serves five years in the lower group and then is eligible to promotion to the upper group on taking an examination or by obtaining five college credits. Most of them move up by taking the five courses at night.

$3,000 Raise in Elementary. The salary schedule in the elementary schools was the lower group in 1914. The first year and $2,000 the fifth year, the increase being at the rate of $300 a year. The upper group teachers all of whom must have served five years in the lower group—get $2,125 the first year and $2,500 the fourth year. Thus an elementary teacher starts at $1,800 a year and in the ninth year of service is getting $3,500, provided she meets promotional requirements. Eighth grade teachers get $180 above the schedule. There are differentials for special teachers.

High school teachers with limited certificates in the lower group get $1,800 the first year and $2,500 the fifth. When they get into the upper group they get $2,700 the first year and $3,500 the fifth. If they hold a general certificate covering all subjects (their pay in the lower group starts at $2,000 and grows to $2,800 in the fifth year. When they arrive in the upper group they start with $2,800 and run up to $3,500 in the fifth year.

More than 900 Hours. Principals of elementary high schools in the lower group get $3,000 the first year and $3,500 the fifth year. In the upper group they have $4,000 the first year and $4,500 the fifth, an increase of $500 a year. High school principals get $4,500 the first year and $5,700 the fifth year. One figure has been added for so long

MAKING WISCONSIN UNSAFE FOR BEER RUNNING

General prohibition agents early Friday morning seized fourteen loaded trucks and a conveyer car belonging to a gang of Chicago beer runners in a raid on a brewery at Fort Atkinson, Wis. Some 32,000 gallons of real beer were confiscated. The photos were taken at Madison, Wis., where the beer was dumped into sewers.

'BIG TIM' IN JAIL FIGHTS TO RETAIN GAS UNION HELM

Murphy Faces Loss of Job He Created.

"Big Tim" Murphy, the master of labor organizers, who is serving a sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary for participation in the Des Moines station postal robbery a few years ago, is now facing a possible dethronement as the boss of the gas workers' union. This union has always been one of Tim's pet organizations. He organized it in 1919 and developed it into a representative body of gas company employees. It was a gas workers' dispute that resulted in the murder of "Mosley" Knight.

At the time the gas workers were organized "Big Tim" was elected for a five year term as head of the union. This period expired last month. Last Thursday night the gas workers held a special meeting at 180 West Washington street and voted to hold an election in the same hall on Oct. 31.

Qualifies Heads Opposition. The anti-Murphy faction is led by Charles Gustafson, a fitter assigned to the north shop, who is a candidate against Tim for president. Murphy's friends are opposed to a change of officers until Tim can have a voice in the matter.

While waiting his time away in the prison electrical shop Tim has directed two wage increase controversies with the gas company. In each dispute the employees were granted wage increases. Patrick Gallagher, business agent, did the actual negotiating but he was directed to a large extent by Tim's advice.

Use Australian Ballot. The election will be held for the first time under the Australian ballot system. "Tim will win," said Gallagher. "It's just a case of a Murphy against a Gustafson and what chance has the latter with the gas workers."

BOITANO MURDER STILL MYSTERY AFTER ARRESTS

Beyond the arrest of Harry Benedetti and several Italians with police records the authorities investigating the murder of Policeman David Boitano, the "Nemesis of the Black Hand," had accomplished but little last night. The arrest of Benedetti came after rumors of an old quarrel between him and the slain policeman had reached the police.

Capt. William Peters, said Boitano was investigating a recent murder, within a few blocks of "death corner," Oak and Milton streets, when he was murdered. The captain declared those guilty of that murder had killed the policeman.

SEIZE 14 TRUCK BEER CONVOY AND 20 RUNNERS

Chicago Agents Hold
'Tommy O'Donnell'

General prohibition agents from Chicago headquarters of the Illinois-Indiana-Wisconsin enforcement division seized fourteen loaded trucks and a conveyer car belonging to Chicago beer hustlers and confiscated 32,000 gallons of real beer in a raid yesterday on a brewery at Fort Atkinson, Wis.

Twenty of the beer runners, including Tommy O'Donnell, who gave his address as the Flanigan hotel, were arrested in the raid. O'Donnell denied that he is a member of the notorious beer running O'Donnella whose guiding genius is Spikes, and which includes a Tommy.

Wisconsin Pay. The Wisconsin raid is the first affair that has interrupted the progress of a $250,000 aliquot of beer barons and hustlers who switched their operations to various points in Wisconsin following the embarrassing experiences of Perry Drugman and Rudolph Von Kotisch, prominent south side physician, gained a divorce for Mrs. Von Kotisch from Judge Sabath.

The rig, which is said to maintain headquarters on Madison street, between Clark and La Salle, includes many of the best known brewery inspectors in the community. In addition, according to reports, several well known confidence men who have ventured much of their money in the booze or beer market in Illinois have joined the Wisconsin raid to their liking.

All Held in Jail. All of the trucks bear Illinois license plates and federal agency reports were checking up ownership in an effort to learn whether any of the prisoners gave fictitious names. None would be admitted to bail until today, it was said at Madison, where the prisoners were locked up and the trucks impounded. O'Donnell was placed in solitary confinement under heavy armed guard following reports that friends of his were on the way from Chicago to Madison and might attempt to storm the jail and deliver the prisoners, hoodlums and baron alike.

CHEERFUL COPS SEE DOT'S DEATH ABOUT SOLVED

Make Arrest; Quiz Mystery Girls.

New York, Sept. 25.—[Special.]—The police asserted this afternoon that they were on the verge of solving the baffling murders of "Dot" King and Louise Lawson, Broadway moths.

They made no direct accusation, but indicated plainly that the solution was expected to come through their investigation of the robbery of Miss Edith Bobe, the theatrical modiste, who lost $25,000 in gems and jewelry on the evening of Sept. 15 after returning to her apartment at 154 East 63d street with Robert L. Hagos, marine superintendent of the Standard Oil company.

One man is under arrest in that case—John Feinstein, a 34 year old chauffeur, who lives in the Bronx. He was returned to jail for further examination on Oct. 3.

Young Women of Mystery. At his arraignment a mysterious young woman, pretty and well dressed, who said she was a friend but declined to give her name, was arrested by homicide squad detectives. This young woman partly told reporters before she was whisked away by detectives that she knew "every blind tiger and every free spender" in the theatrical district when she was Feinstein's sweetheart.

The letter was asked who she was and declared he never had seen her before. There was a stir in the courtroom when Detective Oswald, entered with Miss Avonne Taylor, an actress, who was the victim of an $10,000 gem theft similar to that of Miss Bobe and to those of Miss King and Miss Lawson.

Victims Aired to Identify. Miss Taylor, visibly nervous, was led into the room. Carefully she scanned each face. Once she was seen to nod to Detective Oswald. But she said nothing and thereafter departed. "Use your own judgment," Detective Oswald told reporters who asked him if Miss Taylor had identified Feinstein as one of the two men who robbed her. "Miss Taylor is very nervous and is afraid the men who robbed her will hurt her if she identifies them."

WIFE SPIES ON DOCTOR HUSBAND AND GETS DECREE

Her recital of what she saw on an evening of spying on her husband, Dr. Rudolph Von Kotisch, prominent south side physician, gained a divorce for Mrs. Von Kotisch from Judge Sabath. Mrs. Von Kotisch named as the "other woman" in the case Mrs. Charlotte Stindel, former wife of Ferdinand Stindel, a nephew of Bruno Stindel of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Mrs. Von Kotisch told Judge Sabath that one night in January, 1922, she waited outside her husband's office and saw Mrs. Stindel, whom she regarded as one of her best friends, go in. That was at 11 o'clock, she said, and the doctor and Mrs. Stindel did not come out of the office until 9 o'clock in the morning. The Von Kotischs were married in 1904.

Dr. Sippy's Will Bequeaths $200,000 Estate to Widow

His estate, valued at $200,000, is left to his widow, Mrs. Mabel Sippy, 5615 Woodlawn avenue, under the will of Dr. Berttram W. Sippy, which was filed for probate yesterday. Dr. Sippy died at Woodlawn Lake, Mich., last August.

PAY ROLL AND BANK HOLDUPS YIELD $14,000

3 Bandits Rob West
City of $4,000.

(Picture on back page.) Pay roll bandits and bank robbers yesterday successfully executed two daring robberies which netted them $14,000. Both robberies took place shortly after the noon hour as hordes of pedestrians looked on.

Three bandits entered the West City bank, 2350 North Cicero avenue, looked around for a moment, and suddenly whipped out their revolvers and commanded every one in the bank to "sit up." One of the men darted into the cashier's cage and gathered up $4,000 in currency.

Bandit Strikes Woman. Mrs. Hazel Tan Brock, 5025 Montana street, was passing the institution as the robbers fled. They shouted threats at her and several other pedestrians as they dashed for a waiting automobile. She was struck by one of the men as she tried to escape.

Six things held up and robbed Clinton Norris and John Powers, employees of the Tyler & Huppach company, glass manufacturers at 348 West Ohio street, and each with a pay roll amounting to $10,000.

Grab Satchel with Money. Norris and Powers were stopped by the bandits at Cass and Ontario streets as they were driving to the company's plant. Four of the men leaped from their machine and grabbed the satchel containing the money.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS UNANIMOUSLY RENOMINATE AL

Gov. Smith Promises a Vigorous Campaign.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith and the entire roster of Democratic state elective officials were renominated unanimously by the Democratic convention today. The ticket:

Governor—Alfred E. Smith, New York City.

Lieutenant governor—George E. Lunn, Schenectady.

Secretary of state—James A. Hamilton, the Bronx.

Comptroller—James W. Fleming, Troy.

Treasurer—George Earl Shuler, Lyons.

Attorney general—Carl Sherman, Buffalo.

Engineer and surveyor—Dwight B. Ladd, Albany.

The convention, the first in many years that had not been marked by at least one bitter contest, was the epitome of harmony.

Give Smith Big Ovation.

It was a Smith demonstration all the way, every reference to the governor provoking renewed enthusiasm.

When the governor appeared in person the assemblage gave him one of the greatest ovations in its career.

When William Church Osborn, the permanent chairman, concluded his eulogy of the governor by saying "there is only one Al Smith," the delegates and spectators rose as one with a yell that could be heard blocks away.

County standards were wrenched from their sockets and the cheering, singing, delegates milled around the floor while the hand tried to make itself heard above the din with the governor's favorite song, "The Sidewalks of New York," and other old favorites.

Mrs. Roosevelt Speaks.

The principal speaking was done by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a cousin of the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Theodore Roosevelt. She talked laughter when she said:

"Of course, Al Smith will win. He could not do otherwise when the Republican convention at Rochester yesterday did all it could to help him."

The governor in his address to the delegates promised he would wage a vigorous campaign. Praise of John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee, as the ablest Democrat in the United States; condemnation of the Republican platform adopted at Rochester to the "most dishonest document" he had ever read; and denunciation of the Republican national and state ad-

BRYAN (C. W.) WILL SEE SPECIAL BOXING BOUTS AS CHICAGO'S GUEST

Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, vice presidential nominee, comes to Chicago this morning for some conference at west-end headquarters, but one of the big events of his visit may be his wrestling of some boxing matches.

No, this is not a press agent story. The P. A. pool-pooled when he was asked about it. He did not believe in that sort of a stunt to get publicity in a national campaign.

This is the way it got out. George E. Brennan, national committeeman for Illinois, was lunching with some of the local organization leaders at the Sherman. They were talking about Gov. Bryan's visit.

"I wonder where we can find some boxing while he's here," said Brennan.

"He won't hear of any good cards for the next few days," answered W. J. Connors, superintendent of the city license bureau.

"Well, if we can't do anything better," suggested Ald. John Touhy, "we can get some up for him."

"We may have to do that," Brennan said.

ministrations brought forth thunderous applause.

"You cannot nominate a myth in Washington and a name in New York and get away with it," said the governor.

The convention adjourned sine die soon after the governor's speech.

The only other business transacted at the convention was the adoption of the party platform, which in the main follows closely along the lines of previous state platforms. It openly denounced the Ku Klux Klan, called for modification of the Volstead act so as to permit the sale of light wines and beer, and recommended equal representation of women on party committees.

Nomination Pleases Davis.

New York, Sept. 26.—The renomination of Gov. Smith makes the election of the entire Democratic ticket in New York state "a foregone conclusion," said a statement by John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, issued at the eastern headquarters.

Both as citizen and a Democrat," said Mr. Davis' statement, "I am more than pleased by the action of the Syracuse convention. By universal consent, New York has never had a better governor, nor one who more thoroughly understood the machinery of the state. His rugged honesty, his fearlessness, his sound judgment, his fairness to all, and his sympathy with the great masses of mankind make him a distinctive and appealing figure in American life. I am glad to find myself doing battle at his side."

DOUST 'VULTURES' IS DAWES' PLEA TO MAIN STREET

Denounces Demagogues in Bob's Territory.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—When the shadow of death fell across Europe, her people rose against the international demagogue and crowned common sense as king. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, told the people of St. Cloud tonight.

He would apply that same remedy to the political situation in America, today, call in the experts, get the truth, discard the "vultures," who have been running around the country promising vain, impossible, and conflicting things.

Gen. Dawes, talked of the reparations plan after he had received so much praise that it made him blush. He said he would not sail under false colors.

Modest About Reparations.

"I am not a great man at all," he said, in reply to those who credited him with "saving Europe."

"The reparations plan to which my name is attached was a group effort, evolved by the representatives of five nations."

"It was successful, and it is going to be successful, because the people there are just about as sick of politicians as the American public is getting to be."

The international demagogue had brought Europe to the verge of an abyss. Success depended not on the honesty and ability of the committee men because the people perceived the abyss. People in adversity reason well. The time had come when the shadow of death fell on the floor of Europe.

That's where we are getting in American politics as I see it. That is why I get a little caustic and bitter sometimes at these politicians. We have had an orgy of demagogues. The politicians in congress have run from the representatives of minorities; let a determined minority march on the scene of legislation and watch the politicians.

Finds City Close to "Main Street."

Gen. Dawes found here a "sensible, patriotic, conservative community," close to "Main Street where I come from."

He could not find here, he said, the base of real radicalism, nor the support of it. Yet he warned that is the La Follette movement, the principles of liberty on which this country is founded are placed in jeopardy.

He had spent the afternoon resting and reading Alexander Hamilton's appeal for the constitution, and he delivered an effective address, which brought an appreciative response from his audience, many of whom had come in from the farms, the back country where La Follette sentiment rests in such strength that the Republicans will consider it a real triumph to carry this state for Coolidge and Dawes.

Gen. Dawes' visit has quickened interest in the campaign. He has become the rallying point for the disaffected, and a big fund was started today by subscription to get precinct workers out for registration and voting days.

Main street is solid for Coolidge and Dawes. A. M. Wallon of the Bank Center Herald reported to the general today.

Dr. Will Kennel and Carol were in the audience tonight and testified to this. It is the country where the danger lies, the farms where the German-American vote controls large districts. The rain came tonight, came as an ally for those who would keep those farmers away from such meetings and such thoughts as Dawes started in circulation—thoughts of danger to their property and their freedom under the ancient bill of rights that was wrested from King John by the sword. Gen. Dawes told of the Russian experiment and the misery that had come to that country through following false leaders who conceived that the human race could be made happy through changes in government rather than in themselves.

BRITEN WANTS PLATTEN 'CHICAGO' IN FIELD MUSEUM

Congressman Fred A. Britten yesterday actively enlisted in the campaign to secure the return to this city of the alabaster "Chicago," one of the three survivors in the army's world flight.

The object of the campaign is to secure consent of the government for the permanent display of the plane at the Field Museum.

"I have just witnessed the safe arrival of the world flyer," Congressman Britten wired, "and I am telegraphing the secretary of war to allow us to keep the plane in Chicago for the future admiration of millions."

Regularity of "pick-up" service is an extremely important factor in the business of the Mutual Rendering Company, Inc., of Philadelphia. Butchers insist on the removal of scrap material at least every other day.

Mr. J. E. Lammert, President, attributes the remarkable growth of his company largely to the reliability of the "pick-up" service. Pierce Arrow trucks are used exclusively. The work is the severest form of economy test, for it is made up entirely of short hauls. Each truck makes between 45 and 50 stops per day, with motors idling continually during the stop periods. Every two days, eight 2-ton trucks reach the entire list of about 700 customers.

Mr. Lammert recently said, "Any saving in first cost we might make by buying less reliable trucks would be wiped out many times by tie-ups in our haulage system."

Let us tell you what silent, powerful Pierce Arrow trucks are doing in your line of business.

Yellow Cab

Has Abolished Extra Fares

Yellow Cab drivers—an unusual class of men—again demonstrated their quality in agreeing to—and even urging—the abolishment of extra fares for extra passengers.

When we consulted them on the subject, they said, "If you think this can be done, let's do it. We are willing to take the chance." And this radical rate reduction wouldn't have been possible without their earnest co-operation. Their desire to serve the public, and their faith in their company are sincere, and they have taken the chance without fear.

Already we have felt a considerable increase in our volume of business. We are confident it will grow as rapidly as the public fully understands how cheaply it can now ride.

We feel that this low rate is creating new riders. People who heretofore have used some other means of transportation, now find that when four or five people ride together and divide the cost, the fare for short distances especially is practically bus or street-car fare. And they ride in the best cabs in the world—behind the best drivers—under the best system of operation, and surrounded with the best possible protection, which is MORAL, ORGANIZED and FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY, a factor that is just as essential in the cab industry as in railway or steamship lines which transport human freight.

We feel that Yellow Cab has accomplished a mission. It is giving Chicago what is known throughout the world as the best cab service in existence—a service in which you, your wives and children necessarily have confidence—a service so hedged about with dignity, decency and protection that it is a credit to Chicago.

We have said to you many times, "Give us the volume and we'll give you the rates." We are saying it again. We will keep on saying and doing it. Volume is the keynote of the lower cost of transportation. The more preference you and your friends give us, the lower we can make the rates, and still give our employees a chance to see the sun shine.

NIGHT EXPELLED BY CONCLAVE OF M. E. MINISTERS

Prosecutor Probes Past
Life of Poisoner.

Carbondale, Ill., Sept. 26.—The Rev. Lawrence M. Hight of Ina, Ill., confessed wife poisoner, and instigator of the poisoning of Wilford Sweetin by his wife, Elsie, has paid the extreme penalty to the church of his calling.

Tomorrow in open session, the southern Illinois conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in session here, will hear of Hight's expulsion from the ministry and the vote will be formally recorded when the "selected number" the church jury—reports this fact.

The expulsion verdict was made public tonight following a secret trial of Hight by the "selected number."

"Prosecutor" States Case.

The opening statement was made by the Rev. J. S. Cummins, pastor of the First Methodist church at Robinson, and who interviewed Hight in his cell at Nashville last night. It represented the church and was, in fact, the prosecutor.

The Rev. C. C. Hall, superintendent of the Mount Carmel district, and the only witness, then testified, telling of Hight's confession to having poisoned his wife with intent to "destroy her life," and his admitted conspiracy in killing Mrs. Sweetin to poison her husband, Wilford, so that she and the pastor could marry.

Defender Regrets Crime.

Then the Rev. T. B. Sower, counsel for Hight, admitted the crime. Hopelessness and regret were written on the face of the condemned man's counsel, but he rose in a perfunctory fashion and suggested mitigation.

He mentioned that insanity might explain it, and that action of the church now might be hasty. At this the Rev. Mr. Robinson, chairman, said it was the consensus of the committee that on the evidence there was no mitigation evidence before them.

Immediately thereupon members of the committee, silent and unmoved, voted unanimously to oust the Ina minister, following the motion of the Rev. L. A. McGill of Newton, which was seconded by the Rev. Lawrence Smith of Altamont.

The expulsion of Hight was the second action of its kind taken by conference pastors today. Earlier the relations committee had reported the expulsion of the Rev. C. B. Lettner, former pastor at Fairview, on charges of "indiscretion with women members of his congregation."

Husband Found Nole.

Church men said that a note of excommunication terms that got into the hands of the husband of a woman at the meeting about seven months ago led to a split in the community and finally led to the conference and finally to the expulsion of the Rev. J. G. Tucker, district superintendent of the region in which Lettner's charge was located, presented the findings of the committee and action was formally taken.

The former Fairview pastor is married and has a family and recently is said to have been attending school at the Garrett Theological school at Northwestern university, Evanston. Some believe that he will later seek reinstatement.

Sift Williams Case.

Johnston City, Ill., Sept. 26.—In order for the arrests of Robert Tate and his wife, Ruby, was being prepared tonight, Coroner William McCown announced at Marion this evening after the body of Joseph L. Harrington, the first husband of Mrs. Tate, had been exhumed from its grave in the city cemetery here earlier in the day. Tate, a boarder at the former Harrington home, married Harrington's widow at Benton, Ill., Sept. 23, twenty days after Harrington had died.

The stomach of the dead man has been sent to the state department of chemistry at Springfield for analysis to determine what caused the death.

Harrington and his wife, neighbors said, were devoted members of a local church. During the last few weeks of his life it was said by neighbors, the couple had quarreled over Tate's alleged familiarity with Mrs. Harrington.

HOPE THOMPSON ASSAILS CROWE AS 800 LISTEN

Speaking to a mass meeting of about 800 men and women at the Olympic theater yesterday noon, Hope Thompson, reform candidate for state's attorney, assailed State's Attorney Crowe.

"I have begun an investigation of the circumstances which resulted in the court action," he said. "The Republican national committee and no one in its behalf had any part whatever in the proceedings nor anything in the nature of advance information concerning them."

"I am also advised today that neither the Republican state organization nor the Coolidge-Dawes organization in California, of which Mr. Mark Requa is director, nor the national committee-man of California, nor any Republican officials connected with the local campaign there was party in any manner to the proceedings in any way."

"Corruption was practiced under the very nose of the state's attorney if not under his participation. I challenge him publicly to discuss the 'Hirshle' Miller case."

The Rev. Elmer L. Williams, agent of the Better Government association, which sponsors Thompson's candidacy, was almost as vitriolic in his denunciation of the prosecutor. Among other things, he spoke of an outing to be given today in honor of John P. Lene-

Attempts of opposition forces to pin on the Coolidge campaign management the responsibility for the decision of the California Supreme court barring La Pollette electors from the ballot in that state brought a protest yesterday from William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"I have begun an investigation of the circumstances which resulted in the court action," he said. "The Republican national committee and no one in its behalf had any part whatever in the proceedings nor anything in the nature of advance information concerning them."

JONES DECLARES SMALL'S RECORD ILLINOIS' SHAME

Talks to Many Republicans in Evanston.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Norman L. Jones, Democratic candidate for governor, interrupted his downstate tour yesterday to do a little campaigning in Republican Evanston.

Most of his audience at the Evanston Women's club were Republicans. The scarcity of Democrats in this north shore suburb is traditional, but the crowd last night showed its appreciation when the Democratic candidate told them Republicans NORMAN L. JONES.

He could serve not only their country but their party better by refusing to vote for the Republican candidate, Gov. Len Small.

Says State Feels Shame.

"No citizen can find any satisfaction in the sordid story of Illinois' recent history or the shame that hangs above this state like a great cloud," he said.

Mr. Jones had prepared a speech in which he dwelt principally with the subject of hard roads and the $175,000 campaign fund he says Small is trying to squeeze from road contractors, but sensing the friendly attitude of his Republican audience he discarded that subject as a specialty and assailed Small from all angles.

Padded pay rolls, abuses of public funds, and attempts to conceal a notorious record of misdeeds behind a hard road program about which there is no issue furnished the keynote of Jones' denunciation of Gov. Small. Mr. Jones said if elected he will veto a bill that passes the legislature unanimously calling for the publication of pay rolls, as Small did, claiming the measure was only to satisfy idle curiosity.

Wants Public to Know.

"It is idle curiosity for the people," he asked, "to want to know how their money is handled and spent? I favor a law letting the people know, and I favor a law requiring public officials to leave their records behind when they leave. Let us make the hour of accounting memorable."

Small's pay roll to take care of political favorites is $14,000,000 more than the Lowden pay roll, Mr. Jones declared.

In her complaint against the doctor, who is chief medical examiner for Gov. Small's state industrial commission, Mrs. O'Reilly says her ribs were broken, and a wrist sprained in successfully resisting an attempted attack in the City Hall Square building, where the industrial commission meets.

Chekiang Troops Launch Drive Against Kiangsu

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—The Chekiang forces launched a general attack at 7 o'clock this morning on the Kiangsu lines from Linho to Huangtu to relieve Linho from pressure and to advance the Chekiang lines to Quinsan, a fortified town commanding Soochow. The Chekiang troops also hope to gain a decision on the Shanghai front before an attack by Gen. Sun Chuan-fang from the south materializes.

will resort to immediate armed intervention. That Japan plans aggressive measures should they become necessary is indicated in what is apparently an inspired article appearing in all Japanese papers in Manchuria and China. The article states in substance that Japan will not look on calmly should its interests in Manchuria be violated.

Belittle Chang Gains.

Gen. Chang's small successes around Chaoysang are probably due to the fact that this district was under his administration before 1922 and the garrisons there are still somewhat friendly, according to Peking. Gen. Wu is not alarmed by the results of the preliminary skirmishes, because he is certain that when his own men arrive and the real attacks begin he will win.

Both sides continue to mobilize strenuously, and probably each will complete the mobilization about the same time.

FIGHTS TO FREE GIRL SPEEDER FROM CITY CELL

Her Lawyer Charges Flaw
in Court Order.

Efforts will be made today to release Miss Clark, 4895 Sheridan road, from the Bridewell, where she was confined for speeding and on additional charges of driving while intoxicated. Superior Judge Joseph B. David heard her lawyer argue yesterday that there were flaws in her commitment to the city jail. Her lawyer, David T. McConaughy, charged she had no attorney in court before Judge Finnegan and was not permitted to ask for a writ of habeas corpus.

Judge David issued a writ of habeas corpus directed against R. V. Graham, superintendent of the Bridewell, and the case for hearing at 10 o'clock this morning. Miss Clark, a showgirl, was served five of the fifteen days of her sentence.

Auto Kills Child.
Another child victim, Milton Fox, 4, of 614 West 14th street, was added yesterday to the county's motor death toll, raising the total this year to 48. He was struck while playing in front of his home by an automobile driven by Mrs. Cella Neil, 3210 Phillips avenue. The boy died at the county hospital. Mrs. Neil was not held.

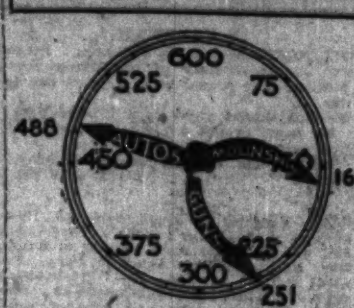

John Schmidt, 54, 2223 Southport avenue, was held by the police yesterday after the truck he was driving struck and severely injured George J. Schwaertzer, 60, 3978 Lake Park avenue. Schmidt was sentenced by Judge Joseph P. Curran to serve ten days in the Bridewell and to pay a $50 fine. He was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Doctor Is Arrested.
Dr. Archibald Colvin of 6101 Greenwood avenue was arrested on a charge of reckless driving after his car was stopped at the corner of 71st street and Merrill avenue.

Hundred members of the Chicago Optometric society volunteered last night to examine free, at the request of any police captain or municipal judge, the eyes of any person arrested for reckless driving. The examination was made by H. E. Francis, president of the association, at his meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

200 to Attend Banquet on Fire Prevention Day

Oct. 9, the anniversary of the great Chicago fire, which has been designated by the President as national fire prevention day, will be observed this year by the fire fans with a dinner at the Hotel Sherman, at which 200 are expected. The announcement was made yesterday by J. M. Kirkley, president of the Fire Fans association. Supp. Pete McAniff of the fire insurance patrol will speak.

Just One Drink, and Taxi Driver Falls from Cab

Walter Stymenski, 1837 McHenry street, a taxicab chauffeur, was found unconscious at Sheffield and North avenues last night. His head had been cut. Stymenski later said that he had had a drink of liquor given him by a fare he'd taken to the Drake hotel, and that he had become dizzy. The cut was the result of a fall from the seat of his cab.

Price of Gas Still Going Down in Omaha; 8 3/4c

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 26.—A sign—"Gas 1 1/2 cents per gallon"—will hang from the People's Gas station here until after Christmas, the proprietor, H. O. Churchill, announced today. This is a reduction of 1 1/2 cents from the station's recent price, which was the lowest in Omaha.

CAL PICKS STONE TO SIFT WRANGLE IN PHILADELPHIA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—Attorney General Stone has begun an inquiry into charges of "political corruption among federal office holders in Pennsylvania," and has invited William R. Nicholson Jr., secretary of the Law Enforcement league of Philadelphia, who made them, to come here to present his evidence.

Mr. Nicholson made the charges, the details of which were not disclosed here, in a communication received yesterday by the President, who turned over the correspondence to Attorney General Stone. The latter today wired Mr. Nicholson asking him to bring "responsible officers" of the league to talk over the alleged corruption.

Condemns Appeal to President.
Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 26.—Joseph M. Steele, president of the Law Enforcement league of Philadelphia, tonight characterized as a "very foolish move" the telegram sent by Secretary Nicholson of the league to President Coolidge in which it was stated the league had evidence of political corruption by federal office holders in Pennsylvania. As a result of the telegram Mr. Steele said he seriously considered tendering his resignation as president of the league.

A long conference today between the mayor and Maj. Gen. William G. Price of the Pennsylvania National Guard led to reports that Gen. Price was being considered to succeed Gen. Butler.

The DAVIS STORE Is a Store with a Mission

Our idea of a great store is that it shall perform a great service to the people—a service which, but for its efforts, might not be provided.

Distributing merchandise at retail is, of course, an important service—but that work, in a general way, might be done for the people of Chicago even if this store did not exist. We must have a real reason for our business existence aside from that of merely competitive enterprise seeking a profit through supplying the wants of the public.

Our mission in the business world, our actuating ideal, our real reason for existence, as we conceive it to be, is this:

To put more character and quality into medium-priced and inexpensive merchandise, and to provide more satisfactory conditions for its distribution.

To demonstrate the economic advantages that can be given to the public by a large merchandising organization when it puts the spirit of service uppermost and trusts its own success to the principle—"He profits most who serves best."

To do this is the mission of The Davis Store. To the accomplishment of this mission we pledge the best endeavors of this organization. Let our place in the esteem of the public be based on how well we are accomplishing that mission in our daily performance.

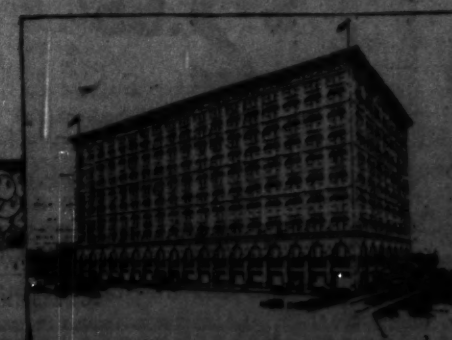

Upon this basis, then, without further apologies for our newness, and without pleading our good intentions for the future in place of the actual performance in the present, we invite the confidence, good will, and patronage of the public.

Elmer Gets a Squeak That Isn't Static

He Doesn't Like That Rocking Chair.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

This bird's on a rampage again. He must be taking a cold or something. He slipped into his "squeaky" rocking chair about 2:40 p. m. yesterday, slipped on the phone and tuned in W-G-N for its "Rocking Chair" hour. The announcer has a nutmeg grater, a pair of scissor-tongued or something that he uses as a "squeaker" or a "scratcher" to simulate the sound of a creaking rocking chair. This stunt certainly does not improve the program.

Turning to WLS at 8:20, a pleasing voice... Announcer, "Spawnee Jubilee Singers." Their next number, "Kentucky Home," was so long dragged out it may be going yet.

To W-G-N at 8:35 for a portion of its classical program. Here we ran into another anomaly, considering the nature of the program—the two of "one" (often sounding like "un") for "song" or "number." It sounds strange to hear: "The next one will be a Funeral March of a Marionette, by Gounod." The use of the word "one" has become the rule rather than the exception.

ASSESSORS FIND COUNTY POORER BY $115,232,635

All Property Valued at $3,846,028,536.

Cook county's tax values on all property, both real and personal, were boosted $140,030,864 by the board of assessors this year, it was announced yesterday as the final figures were given out by Paul H. Wiedel, chief clerk of the board.

The valuation of the county was set at $3,846,028,536, as compared to last year's final board of review figure of $3,695,997,732.

Tax experts declared that when the assessments are reviewed, on taxpayers' complaints, by the board of review, the final total this year will fall far below last year's. The belief was strengthened by the fact that the assessors' valuation is lower than Chicago's own figure of 1923, which was $3,641,261,170, by $115,232,635.

Comparison of Figures.

Full values for the county of real estate and personal property, as fixed by the assessors this year and the reviewers in 1923, are as follows:

Review, 1923. Assessors, 1924.

Real estate, $2,516,587,000 $2,508,904,158

Personal, 789,440,730 947,124,378

Totals, $3,306,027,730 $3,456,028,536

The same figures, as applied to the city alone, follow:

Review, 1923. Assessors, 1924.

Real estate, $2,307,444,154 $2,334,430,352

Personal, 706,547,250 889,598,186

Totals, $3,014,000,104 $3,224,028,538

The city figures indicate an increase of $210,028,434. If the increase was not disturbed by the board of review, it would result in an increase of the city's tax revenue by nearly $3,000,000.

Valuation by Towns.

Real estate valuations, as fixed for the eight city districts, and compared to 1923 figures, are as follows:

Review, 1923. Assessors, 1924.

Hyde Park, $334,401,000 $353,300,572

Jefferson, 164,098,110 205,040,878

Lincoln, 209,952,310 210,742,772

Lake View, 261,201,030 267,577,912

DIES IN ALEXIAN HOSPITAL AFTER 42 YEAR SERVICE

Brother Ambrose Nussbaum, 72 years old, for forty-three years in service at Alexian Brothers' hospital, 1200 Belton avenue, died yesterday at the hospital, where he has been ill since last July. BOBBY JONES TO MEET VON ELM IN AMATEUR GOLF

BY JOE DAVIS.

South Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Out in the final bracket of the national amateur championship are the names of Robert Tyne Jones of Atlanta, and George Von Elm of Los Angeles and tomorrow south and the far west will meet in the crucial battle for the golfing crown of 1924 over the thirty-six hole route at the Merion Cricket club.

These stars of their respective sections advanced through the medium of distressingly one sided victories. Jones defeating Francis Outmet of Boston, 11 and 19, and Von Elm disposing of Champion Max Marston of Philadelphia, hero of Flossmoor last year, 7 and 6. It was a sad day for bean town and equally dismal for Father Penn. Bobby's Golf Perfect.

Jones marched forward to what is now the goal of his ambition, the amateur championship, by a grand display of golf which utterly crushed the Boston idol, who still as lion hearted as ever, has not the stamina to stand up under the strain of a week's play.

Bobby played as he has in the national open events, turning in a card of 73 in the morning, which contained no less than sixteen pars. A pulled drive into the woods which cost him 6 at the eighteenth hole was his only real mistake and led Outmet 8 up. As he missed his putt for a 5, Outmet remarked: "Well, you can spare that one Bobby." It was the only hole the Boston player won. There was no deviation in the afternoon when Bobby turned his machine-like play, and while he once went over par, he picked off two "birds" as they call them in Philadelphia and played the eight holes in 22, one under par.

He played the twenty-six holes in 106 strokes, one over four, and two over par. And so, at the twenty-fourth hole of the match, Outmet was eliminated, 11 and 19, the heaviest reverse of his career, which may afford some consolation to Chick Evans, and several other stars, who were eliminated by big margins.

Beats Boon Companion.
Bobby probably would rather have administered this dose of defeat to any other player than Outmet as they are close companions, but Bobby has had too many bad experiences in the National amateur event to take any chances.

It is quite possible that Marston owed the loss of his match to lack of physical condition as he looks to be 30 pounds heavier than when he defeated Sweetser at Flossmoor and so the week's toll may have taken its toll. This possibility is not too far from the truth as Von Elm has been in the form of the last Lake championship in 1921 and 1922, the winning of the trans-Mississippi title in 1921, the Southern California championship and the winning of the Salt Lake championship, have stamped him as a great player, but yesterday he faced the supreme test of his career in meeting Marston on his home course and he lost. The game came through with colors flying. He showed he had nerve. He did not settle down at the first few holes of the morning or afternoon, but came home in 35 in the morning when he lost a close battle, he won the last four holes and established a lead of 6 up.

Max Is 7 Down.
This looked good enough to win but the vagaries of golf are strange and so the first few holes in the afternoon were watched with keen interest. Marston was trapped and lost the first hole and 7 down. Then at the next hole, Von Elm was trapped on his drive and lost 6 to 6. Again at the third hole, he was trapped and lost 5 to 2, so it looked as if there was a chance for Marston to rehabilitate his chances, and the 4,000 citizens of Quakertown following in the wake of the match felt there still was a chance for Max.

From this point on, Marston had no chance to break through, as George began sending his pitches to points where he putted for three, and his approach putting left him sure of his par. Three holes were left to play and Von Elm was 5 up and 11 to play. Then Marston's pitch for the eighth hole fell into a trap in a sandy lie. Two feet more and he would have been clear. Von Elm, from thirty-five feet, laid his approach putt dead, and Marston, playing an explosion shot, only just got on the green. He missed a putt and lost 4 to 4, and was 4 down. Then at the short ninth hole, Marston's two shot was high and short and fell into the creek. This fountained his hopes, as his second was in a trap, and he clipped out far over the cup, coming the hole to Von Elm, who was then 7 up and 8 to play.

The big gallery stuck to the finish, although Marston's defeat was inevitable. He won the tenth and lost the eleventh with a poor 4, hitting 10 on his pitch and then putting his third over the green. A half in 4 settled the match, and the gallery filed forward, depressed in spirits.

Looks Good for Jones.
But tomorrow will be another day, and a record crowd is expected to see Jones and Von Elm. If Jones continues the same par brand of golf he cannot lose, and he is picked to win by a fair margin. Von Elm is in the world, and even if Bobby had to face Walter Hagen tomorrow, he would not look for luckers.

Jones' driving was good and he seemed to have the green and get down in two putts. Outmet was at times with both first and second cuts and looked like the golf mad of the Merion club. Von Elm was in the form of the last Lake championship in 1921 and 1922, the winning of the trans-Mississippi title in 1921, the Southern California championship and the winning of the Salt Lake championship, have stamped him as a great player, but yesterday he faced the supreme test of his career in meeting Marston on his home course and he lost. CATHOLIC LEAGUE.
St. Philip, at St. Cyril, at 10:30.
St. Patrick, at St. Ignace, at 11:00.

With six teams swinging into action, the Catholic Football League will inaugurate its grid season this afternoon on three parochial gridirons, getting a jump of one week on the suburban conference and a head start of two weeks on the city public high school circuit, which will see action on Oct. 4 and 11, respectively.

Besides the Catholic league affairs an excellent array of prep games will be played today. The parochial engagement that is likely to be the best attraction of the three league contests will bring together St. Patrick and Loyola on the Loyola campus. St. Patrick boasts a strong outfit, while Loyola showed up well last Saturday in holding the heavier Senn eleven to a tie. In the other league tilt St. Philip will meet St. Cyril and St. Mel will oppose St. Paul, another well balanced team.

Kaslo Preps Play Lindblom.
Of the seven intercollegiate games on tap today, White City park will be the scene of a battle of interest. Lindblom, which should be a factor in deciding the who's who in the coming year among the public high schools, will be asked to test the mettle of an eleven representing Kalamazoo, Mich. The south side team has been practicing like Trojans all week in anticipation of this game, drilling specialists on the offensive in perfecting an aerial attack, smoothing out their signals, and polishing up on the defense.

Open Oak Park Stadium.
Out at Oak Park the Suburban league champions of last year will hook up with Austin of the city league in a combat that will be the feature of the formal opening of the new stadium, completed recently at a cost of $110,000. Seating accommodations will take care of 6,000 in the new Oak Park athletic plant, which is one of the finest high school stadiums in the middle west.

JOE RAY WILL COMPETE TODAY AT HAWTHORNE
Joe Ray, fastest of all middle distance runners, and Earl Krogh, prominent in Big Ten athletics, last year's captain of the Oregon squad and running mate of Joe's on the victorious relay team that clipped twenty-three seconds off the world's four mile relay mark, will run in the special mile feature event of today's track and field meet at the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric company.

Tom Kerk, veteran athletic coach at the University of Chicago, will provide a specialty event in his own making when four of his brightly colored take to the cinder path in an effort to set a new world's record in the 16 year old girls' relay.

All of the events, of which there are twenty-two, to be preceded by a girls' baseball game between the Western Electric club ladies and the Davis high representatives of Racine, Wis., will be held on Memorial field, the company's playground at 234 street and 49th avenue.

BOAT RACES ON ERICKSON DAY
Motor boat, canoe, shell, and rowing races will feature the athletic program to be held in connection with the annual Left Erickson festival on the Michigan pier today. The races will start at 2 o'clock, but the festival proper will open in Lincoln park at 1 o'clock with speeches and songs. Following these exercises the athletic assembly will march down Michigan avenue to Grand avenue and then east to the pier.

Chicago Police Finish Third in Pistol Meet
Tulsa, Ok., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—The New York police team won the police pistol championship of the world at the Harvard park pistol range here today, scoring 1,556 points. Tulsa was second with 1,444, and Chicago third with 1,432. The New York team was a new record.

Frank Armstrong of Toledo had the world's record, shooting 56 out of 100.

PURPLE VARSITY NIPS FROSH IN 20 TO 7 TILT

Northwestern's varsity eleven had a battle on its hands yesterday when the wearers of the Purple met the freshmen in a hard fought game, which ended in a 20 to 7 victory for the regulars. The contest was hard fought throughout, the yearlings putting up a bitter scrap and at times refusing to yield ground before the onslaught of their heavier foes.

The three varsity touchdowns came as the result of forward passes. "White" White snagging the first aerial heave and running twenty yards to the frosh goal. Matthews, an end, camped under another toss to score the second touchdown. The third was made by Cohen, who pulled down a pass and scampered over. Ralph Baker was on the throwing end of the first two scores, and made both points after touchdown.

Fresh Score Touchdown.
After the varsity had gained a 14 to 0 advantage, their lineup was shifted and new men were sent into the fray.

The freshmen got possession of the ball in midfield when Gustafson recovered a punt and returned it 10 yards. Lewis, snail frosh full back, plunged through the line for 20 yards. With the ball resting on the twenty yard mark Gustafson shot around right end for the frosh score.

The varsity started the play with Seidel and Mathers at the end. Baker, White, and Capt. Wincke in the backfield; Christian at quarter, Lowry at center, Parsons at one guard, and Bruce at a tackle.

RED CUNNINGHAM REPORTS
The return yesterday of "Red" Cunningham to the University of Chicago practice gridiron brightened Maroon hopes a bit, for Cunningham was the Boilermakers' star last year and this year he is expected to be a factor in the team's success for the present season. Though his return increases the number of Coach Stagg's end possibilities to about eight men, drafted when the year with North Dakota furnished the opposition at Madison. The Cardinal is now preparing for this struggle since the opening day of practice and Coach Jack Ryan will place a fairly well developed squad on the field. Caliber of some of the Badgers is so well known that Wisconsin should be a championship contender providing the players come through as expected.

Purdue Meets Wabash.
Purdue has a battle on its hands to win over the doctory Wabash eleven at Lafayette. In previous years the Little Giants from Crawfordsville, Ind., have been a hard aggregation for the Boilermakers to beat and this year's eleven may be no exception. Last year the two teams battled to a 7 to 7 tie. Purdue is slated to meet Ohio State at Columbus one week from today in the first game of the season which will bring together two Big Ten eleven.

Indiana, which is making football progress under the coaching of "Navy" Bill Ingram, will engage Rose Poly at Bloomington. Ingram has had a successful season last year and, with more and better material on hand this fall, Indiana may be represented by a team which will cause some disturbance in the conference.

Other Games Scheduled.
Iowa State, known as Ames in football circles and which is generally a factor in Missouri valley conference football, will open with Nebraska Western at Lincoln.

Three Big Ten Grid Teams Get 1924 Baptism Today

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
Layan on the home field. Sam Williams is again head coach at the Hawk-eye school, and reports have it he has better material than usual.

Tommy Mills, head mentor at Beloit, will send his team against Northwestern college at Beloit, while Dornard and Marquette will mingle in an informal game, and Pat Page's Butler team will meet Hanover at Indianaapolis. Many other games are on the slate in the middle west, but for the most part the results are of interest only to close followers of the combatting eleven.

Subs to Get Chance.
The struggles should give the coaches splendid opportunities to test the worth of material which has shown well in practice. Every candidate with possibilities may be sent into the games and upon his general play will depend his chances of winning a berth on the regular team and the coveted university and college letter.

Wisconsin will play its first game today in the first game of the season which will bring together two Big Ten eleven.

INSULL PARLEY FAILS; MAYOR FOR NEW LINES

Soon Will Tell His Plans in Detail.

Convinced now that his plans for municipal ownership of the elevated and surface lines have failed, Mayor Dever began yesterday the actual drawing up of his traction program. In it he will suggest to the voters an independent subway - elevated rapid transit system.

The final blow to the mayor's hopes came with the visit of Samuel Insull, head of the "L" lines, whose ultimatum was that his price could not come down to the city's level.

Regarding Price as Prohibitive.

"If the city purchased the elevated lines at Mr. Insull's price," the mayor said, "there would be no possibility of needed extensions, and the construction of a subway would be out of the question. The lines would fail. There can be no use continuing negotiations for the purchase of something which we know would be a complete failure."

Mayor Dever refused to make public Mr. Insull's offer, but it was reported to be $25,000,000.

Tentative routes for the municipal system, chosen so as not to compete with existing facilities, have been selected by the mayor, but he refuses to make them known.

Would Use Traction Fund.

It generally is understood that he hopes to finance the plan by using the $20,000,000 traction fund, and employing the special assessment means of providing the balance.

Plans for the adoption of a $100,000,000 rapid transit subway plan are under consideration by the city of St. Louis, a committee of aldermen there having recommended an appropriation of $25,000 for a survey and investigation.

GERMANY TELLS FRANCE NEW TAX HITS DAWES PLAN

Sends Strong Note on Tariff Wall.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.)
BERLIN, Sept. 26.—The German government's quick dispatch of a note to France protesting against the French placing a 56 per cent tax on German goods indicates the seriousness of the present situation. The Tribune is able to confirm from diplomatic sources statements, exclusively cable yesterday from business sources to the effect that Germany considers the Dawes plan in danger.

The German note begins by expressing regret that the French action hinders commercial relations and that France without discussing the matter with Germany took the measure, which becomes effective Oct. 1. Finally, the note makes the sensational declaration that France's action contradicts the fundamental idea of the Dawes plan. A similar note was sent to the reparations commission.

It is now no longer a secret that Americans here connected with the carrying out of the Dawes plan consider the situation arising over France and Belgium following England in restoring the imports tax most serious. German diplomats declare it brings about the first real crisis in the Dawes plan since the London conference. Everyone here is hoping Owen D. Young, who is in London, will be able to find a solution before he returns to Berlin.

Approve German Coal Deliveries.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Future commercial relations between France and Germany in connection with the fulfillment of the Dawes plan occupied several administrative bodies here today.

The reparations commission approved the reports of Owen D. Young, agent general of reparations, and his arrangements with Germany for a 10 per cent reduction in coal deliveries from Germany over that originally provided.

The payments under the Dawes plan amount to the equivalent of 1,000,000,000 gold marks ($250,000,000) for the years 1924 and 1925, or roughly $2,000,000 gold marks ($500,000,000) monthly, and the commission is being asked to decide what percentage of monthly payments will be accepted in kind and what part in gold.

German Attaché Protests.

M. Laroche, under director of political affairs, today received the German chargé d'affaires and discussed the 26 per cent tax, which France will levy on all German imports. Following this interview it was understood that the new tariff will be made the subject of a diplomatic note from Germany.

RED CHIEF WAVES OLIVE BRANCH GENTLY AT U. S.

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—[By the Associated Press.]—All the facts indicate that a compromise between the interests of the United States and the Russian Soviet government is to be desired and that it is possible, Foreign Minister Tchitcherine today declared.

The Russian minister, in a carefully prepared interview with the Rosta agency, bristled with argumentation but marked by polite but emphatic language, set forth the Russian point of view on Russo-American relations, and, according to the interpretation placed upon his declarations by many persons here, held out the olive branch to the United States.

Buffalo Pastor Gets Jail Term on Vice Charge

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The Rev. C. Penfold, pastor of the Gentile Methodist Episcopal church of this city, today was sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined $50 by a justice of the peace on a charge of outraging public decency.

The Rev. Mr. Penfold was arrested in an automobile last week with a woman whom he declared in court to be his wife. The woman later appeared and swore that she was Mrs. Freda Lohr.

Attorneys for the clergyman prepared to appeal the sentence, explaining in court that he had had Mrs. Lohr pose as his wife in hopes of escaping unwelcome publicity.

MISSING BROKER HIT PARTNERS A $2,500,000 JOLT

New York, Sept. 26.—[Special.]—The accounts of the suspended stock exchange firm of Day & Heaton are short $1,500,000 because of the disappearance of George R. Christian, one of the partners. Assistant District Attorney Gibbs announced this afternoon after a conference with members of the firm.

In addition the firm will lose $1,000,000 through quitting business owing to Christian's manipulations of its funds, Mr. Gibbs said. The shortage and loss previously have been estimated at $700,000.

Examination of some of the books of the firm revealed today for the first time that Christian had outside accounts with two other brokerage houses. Mr. Gibbs declined to name these and also refused to say whether Christian's stock speculations are up the Day & Heaton shortage or not.

"They seemed dazed," said Mr. Gibbs, in discussing his conference.

Red Riding Hood

SYNOPSIS.
Mrs. Margaret Schuyler, one of New York's leading philanthropists and social lights, advised a young woman to work in her apartment morning. The advertisement is answered by a girl who is not only a good housekeeper but also a good mother. Mrs. Schuyler's family consists of her mother, Mrs. Van Dorn; a young brother, Jim Van Dorn, and an older brother, Bertie, who is away, but whose room is kept ready for him. Sally Wallis, Mrs. Schuyler's daughter, calls during the day. The second morning of her employment Hope faints after receiving a mysterious telephone call. Mrs. Schuyler assumes Dr. Osborne.

INSTALLMENT XII.
PURELY PROFESSIONAL INTEREST.
Back in the secretary's room Dr. Osborne found that young person sitting on the edge of the day bed looking rather vaguely around her.

"Here," he said sharply, "this sort of thing won't do at all! I told you to lie down."
"I know, but I'm quite all right now, and I simply must get up."
The girl's voice, which he heard for the first time, interested him. Though he was a doctor, he collected it, beautiful speaking voice was a passion with Osborne, and he collected them as new records for his memory phonograph. The voice of Mrs. Emerson was now added to the assortment, but he replied with abrupt politeness in his own agreeable baritone:
"You're nothing of the kind. Lie down."

"Lie down!"
The head of his patient rose and she looked at him with resentful eyes. "You're not taking orders, are you?" he interpreted. "Well, you'll learn, with a little practice. Start now by lying down. I want to talk to you."
Hope lay down. It was easier to obey than to rebel, for her brain was still spinning.

"I can't tell you anything," she began.
"I suppose you can't, or rather you won't. However, Mrs. Schuyler has told me all she knows, which doesn't help us much. Of course, you understand that my interest is purely professional," he added in a tone to match the words. "Then I ask you will have a definite bearing on your condition. Medical questions and answers rest between physician and patient, and no one else need know anything about them, so I want you to be frank. It's plain," he went on, "that you're not speaking. That you're in an overwrought nervous state which isn't due to this morning's experience. I want to learn the cause and help you."

"I can't," she said, with closed eyes, while through the dropped lids two tears forced their way and ran slowly down her cheeks.
"That's right," he said cheerfully. "Cry if you want to. It may do you good."
"It won't do me good. I hate myself when I cry!" she fiercely protested, "I feel in the pocket of her uniform for a handkerchief. Finding none, she wiped her eyes and tried to rise."

"Use this."
He put into her hand the big square of linen he had taken from his breast pocket and shaken out of its original folds, and she gratefully buried her face in it. "Then she looked up at him dry-eyed."
"Thank you. I suppose one can't help fainting once or twice in a lifetime; at least I can keep from crying, and I will."

"Are you in the habit of fainting?"
"I certainly am not," she replied with heat. "I never fainted in my life till today."
"That's interesting." He studied her thoughtfully. "But, of course, I realize you're not the type to keep over without cause."
"I hope you'll tell Mrs. Schuyler that." The patient spoke in a tone of depression. "After this she'll expect me to faint on any pretext. Isn't it a suspicious beginning to new work?"

"I'll tell her. But don't worry about the new work just now. Rest and sleep."
His voice was businesslike, and the expression of his vividly blue eyes cool and professional, yet there was about him a heartening suggestion of understanding strength. Osborne had ostentatiously refrained from cultivating the sympathetic bedside manner affected by so many of his colleagues, but its absence had not handicapped his career—though he had gone to the other extreme of assuming a brusqueness that on occasion could be brutal. Looking into what Margaret Schuyler called "Horace's fighting face," Hope felt her nerves relax. He saw the change.

"Feeling better, aren't you? Now I'll tell you what I want you to do. Take another dose of the bromide I'll mix for you—it will be a mild one—and then lie still till I come back. I'm lunching here. After luncheon I'll bring you hot soup or milk, as you wish, and a talk. In that a bargain?"
She nodded, and he prepared the dose and gave it to her.

"Now remember, you're to lie quiet. No roaming around the room," he said on the threshold as he was leaving. "Whatever frightened you is past. Nothing can hurt you here."
"Doctor, before you go, there's just one thing—"
"Yes?" He waited, his hand on the doorknob.

"I wonder if you and Mrs. Schuyler will be good enough not to speak of that sound—to any one?"
He deliberately tested her.

"What sound?"
She hesitated.
"That sound she imagined she heard—the sound you and she were talking about," he said at last. "I infected her with my foolish panic, and she fancied things. Just as I did. But it is too absurd to talk about."
"I won't mention it," the doctor agreed. "And I think I can speak for Mrs. Schuyler, too. I'll warn her before we go in to luncheon."

He left the room, softly closing the door behind him, and rejoined his impatient hostess in the hall.
"We simply must go in, Horace," she waited when she saw him.

"We're going now," Osborne slipped his hand through her arm for the first time, and she felt a thrill. "But first I want to ask you not to speak of that sound to any one. The patient's request," he added, more gently. "She pretends to think you imagined it."
Mrs. Schuyler nodded.

"I don't want to talk about it, and I rather think I did imagine it," she said. "We're probably making a mountain out of a molehill."
Understanding her awe of Kawa, the brief interval for reflection had convinced some of Mrs. Schuyler's optimism. She was almost convinced that she had been mistaken about that sound, yet at the mere memory of it and of the effect on her secretary, a slight chill wriggled down her spine. "Here's the doctor," she added, with relief. "She'll be enchanted to see you."
Mrs. Van Dorn, appearing at that moment, justified her daughter's prediction by greeting the doctor with almost maternal warmth. During the previous winter he had successfully brought her through an attack of double pneumonia, an achievement for which she had given full credit to her Maker.

"Watch me all the time," she had told him in the days of her convalescence. "I'll keep you to keep me well. I'll take your tonics, too. But stop talking to me about exercise and fresh air. I haven't any use for either of them, and I don't want to hear of them. They're greatly overestimated, if you ask me."
"I suppose you've been in your bedroom all morning listening in at your door, with the windows hermetically sealed, as usual," Osborne now suggested.

"ALONG CAME RUTH"

Viola Dana bestows a ray of charm on the movie at the State-Lake. She is a look at, with her baby stare and kissable mouth, and what's more, she has a keen sense of comedy.

The picture is an unassuming little affair, but it moves swiftly from the time the heroine, with no funds but plenty of ambition, arrives in a drab New England town unhappily called Action.

Action has about as much pep as an old man suffering with the gout; its citizens seem to be existing in a blissful state of coma. Perhaps the most pathetic spot in the town is Hubbell's furniture emporium. Ruth here and here proceeds to show Israel Hubbard how to make money. She redecorates the window, sweeps out tons of ancient dust and then uses some high powered salesmanship methods on the customers.

Pinky Dango, played by Walter Hiers, has been trying to put some life into Action for years and he sees his opportunity to organize a Boosters' club while the natives are still sleeping over Mr. Hubbard's sudden burst of prosperity. He's awfully energetic for a fat man and before the picture ends he succeeds in making Action a happy little town, with a board of trade, a brass band and a proper sense of civic pride.

Tully Marshall does good work as the grouchy old Israel Hubbard and succeeds in being really funny when he forgets his duty to Volstead to the extent of becoming politely insubordinate. The minor parts are well done, and while it doesn't break any records, "Along Came Ruth" is a pretty good program picture.

1. No rouge or lip sticks.
2. A simple arrangement of the hair.

Memory of Ericson to Be Honored Today by Chicago Norse

The name of "Lief Ericson" will be honored in Chicago today.

American men and women of Norwegian, Swedish and Danish descent will unite in commemoration of the landing of the Viking explorer on the shores of America in the year 1000. Great crowds will assemble in Lincoln park and on the municipal pier.

This year's celebration has been arranged on a larger scale than ever before. Achievements of the Scandinavian people will be portrayed throughout the program, which begins by the gathering of clubs, societies, and associations at the Viking ship in Lincoln park at 2:30 o'clock.

From the ship the assembled groups will parade to the municipal pier, where an elaborate program of music, speaking, and dancing will be given. A water carnival around the pier will be another attraction.

Prof. Charles N. Gould of the University of Chicago will make the principal address. The residents of the Norwegian Old People's home in Norwood Park and those of the Norwegian Lutheran Bethesda home will occupy seats on the speakers' platform. The proceeds of the celebration will go to the upkeep of these two homes.

Special Viking souvenir medals will be distributed. After the speaking there will be singing, orchestra and band concerts, and dancing. The water carnival will feature swimming and shell races, canoe tugs of war, and motorboat contests.

Roosevelt Women Hold "Plattsburg"

The Women's Roosevelt Republican club held the first of its "Presidential Plattsburgs" yesterday at headquarters of the club, 313 North Michigan avenue.

Miss Mary Bailey, assistant United States district attorney, discussed the "Necessity of Party Affiliations." Mrs. Elwood Stewart explained the difference in the principles of the Republican, Democratic, and La Follette parties. Miss Helen Bennett and Mrs. Albert H. H. reviewed Republican party history. Miss Harriet Vittum said Calvin Coolidge possessed the same elements of greatness that had made Lincoln, Grant, and Roosevelt so famous.

The club will hold three meetings, which are intended to educate Republican women, every Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the clubrooms during the next five weeks. Speakers for the next program, Oct. 2, are Mrs. George M. Shirk, Mrs. Thomas Starr Harper, Mrs. Medill McCormick, and Mrs. J. J. Hottel. Mrs. Robert L. McCall will be director for the day.

Berlin Weeps at Farewell Visit of Zep

There Are Cheers, Too, for Majestic Ship.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Picture on back page.)

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
(Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.)
BERLIN, Sept. 26.—A symbol of Germany's glory and defeat, its 13th Zeppelin, after completing a day and night flight over four nations, came to Berlin this morning, its roaring motors drowning out the cries of jubilation and the sound of weeping millions. It was a day of rejoicing and sadness.

Men and women who just fifteen years ago cheered the first Zeppelin and who ten years ago after failed martial thrills when silver airplanes passed to bomb and terrorize London and Paris could not restrain tears when the ZEP, built for the American navy, did a halt and farewell today.

The new generation for the thousands of children to whom the war is a legend—the Zeppelin's arrival, which was watched from house tops, was a joyful event. It came through a cloud of mist, the ZEP resembled a diamond in gray setting, the sunshine having lit up its nose.

Gradually the whole body, with its underlying gondola looking like sharks' mouths, came through the fog and hovered over the reeling city. A burst of sunshine flashed over the ship and, everybody observed, while the ship crossed over the streets it was sometimes lost to view in the mist, although only a few hundred feet away, and sometimes it was lit by shafts, playing continual pranks.

On the sidewalk outside of Tina Trautman's office Rufus Dawes of Chicago and a dozen other Americans were remarking on how many times more of a thrill they were having than New Yorkers and Chicagoans will have when the ship arrives in America.

The flight, which began at 8:45 Thursday morning, ended at 8:30 tonight at Zeppelinhafen, having been in the air thirty-three hours. Switzerland, Germany, the free state of Danzig, Sweden, and Denmark were crossed, and the night was spent over the Baltic sea. Radio played an important role. Everywhere burgomasters voiced greeting via radioophone while Capt. Eckener answered, while throughout the country enthusiasts listened in. Berlin's mayor radioed the same message a professor fifteen years ago sent to Count Zeppelin: "For Aspern ad Astra."

Chancellor Marx and other cabinet members saw the ship from the porch of the chancellery in Wilhelmstrasse. It was a solemn, sad occasion—the farewell, not the greeting. On the streets many predicted the Americans would ruin the ZEP, "because only German ships could ask to operate." In the junker press hope is expressed that the day will come when Germany will build Zeppelins for war purposes.

Dr. Rikhsen, builder of metal airships, was pessimistic. He said: "A Zeppelin is a $1,000,000 plaything. The day of gas bag airships will pass like wooden ships. In the future airships must be constructed of light metal and must generate gas within."

SCIENTIST TELLS US HOW SUBWAY SHOULD BE BUILT

According to a request from the

It is studied as a thought provoker, not as a product of the concrete situation. It is given neither with indifference nor with enthusiasm. It is the subject of an appraisal of a Martinian cast, or a venture in lunar real estate, but it is not worth thinking over.

"If, then, these results under private ownership may be expected to be realized, the subway should be 'socialized.' The capital should be raised by taxation or rather by municipal bonds. [Mr. Kotany is probably not familiar with the traction fund].

"The further out the subway is built, the less dense will be the traffic. In extreme cases no fare can be fixed that would under private management yield

"If the city wants a subway under these conditions it will have to build and operate it. It may be the surest remedy for the deficit, which is bound to happen. This being so, the city ought not to build nor operate such a subway. To summarize in this case, the subway is not to be built, neither is it to be operated, because the operating rate is too high, in extreme cases over 100 per cent.

"But such a subway may be most desirable for the development of the city. Therefore it must be investigated whether the extent of the subway can be restricted somewhat, so as to make it profitable. This would be a question between private ownership and socialization. This can, indeed have been done in the case of the Newburgh Rapid Transit company of New York. The city further part of the capital, receives no interest and no sinking funds on the bonds it issued therefore, at least not for a certain number of years. If this is done, private capitalists can be induced to build and operate the subway."

WHY IS IT
that people will rent an apartment for $200 per month
—sometimes never realizing that in five years they have actually spent $12,000 for the privilege of making the landlord wealthy?

We can sell you that same apartment on reasonable terms where over a period of five years your net cost to live there is only $4,938—thereby saving $7,464 in five years. Do you know an easier way to save $7,464?

The Very Reason
over 80% of the people in Chicago pay rent is because they have never taken the time or trouble to investigate the advantages of cooperative ownership.
